

LibertyColumns.com Library

Volume V
(2013, July through December)

Daniel R. Quintiliani

LibertyColumns.com Library: Volume V (2013, July through December)
by Daniel R. Quintiliani
Completed January 6, 2014

Dedicated to the public domain according to the Creative Commons CC0 1.0 Universal Public
Domain Dedication on January 6, 2014

CONTENTS

- Preface / pg. 4
- Why Retirees And Veterans Should Be The Whistleblowers / pg. 7
- Information Wants To Be Freed: Thank You Edward Snowden! / pg. 8
- Communism Is The Cutting Edge / pg. 9
- Barack Hussein Obama: The New Leader of Al Qaeda / pg. 11
- A Third Tea Party: Possible, Realistic, and Easier Than You Think / pg. 13
- Obama's Blog-Burning Reich Begins / pg. 15
- Gun Confiscation, Sterilized Seeds & More – The Dangers of a Constitutional Convention / pg. 17
- Are NSA Conspiracies A Conspiracy? / pg. 19
- Abortion Mandate at the Supreme Court: How Obamacare Outlawed Catholicism / pg. 23
- The TPP and the War on Terror: End of the First Amendment / pg. 25
- Creative Commons CC0 1.0 Universal Public Domain Dedication / pg. 27

PREFACE

From 2009 through late October 2012, I ran a blog known as the X-Cop Fly Company (www.xcopfly.com) which varied in its nature over the years. I was never able to decide what I wanted it to be – the site had been a personal journal, political commentary, personal photos, and humorous videos at various times.

However, over time people were noticing my political columns, and some of my columns were reproduced at Brian Duffy's Repeal the 17th Amendment blog (<http://repealthe17thamendment.blogspot.com>), with myself being interviewed on several episodes of his podcast, and eventually my site was listed at Librabase (www.librabase.com), a blog aggregator with a rating system similar to Digg's.

It became apparent that I needed a separate blog devoted to conservative and libertarian political commentary. LibertyColumns.com (www.libertycolumns.com) was created in June 2012, with several columns from the X-Cop Fly Company re-posted there.

As with X-Cop Fly Company, I opted to waive all rights on most of the self-written material, choosing Creative Commons' CC0 1.0 Universal Public Domain Dedication, while retaining the copyright on a few things (and, of course, avoiding violating others' copyrights)

One of the things I did with X-Cop Fly Company is publish a series of eBooks known as The Fly Papers. These eBooks, separated into volumes, contained all posts (usually 6 months' worth per volume) with copyrighted content stripped, and the eBooks are themselves waived under the Creative Commons CC0 1.0 Universal Public Domain Dedication. This was done for several reasons, most notably the lack of public domain material in the face of popular copyleft and non-commercial-use licensing. Completely waiving the material would encourage historical preservation, increase financial opportunities for all who would make use of it, discourage anti-American multiculturalism, and discourage the restrictive nature of copyright, which is increasingly being viewed as a super-property right with infinitely-expanding terms.

In order to legally waive the rights on The Fly Papers, copyrighted content (such as quotes from news articles) was summarized in italicized brackets. However, as the X-Cop Fly Company began to include political commentary, the chapterless post-by-post nature made this material impossible to read.

After setting up LibertyColumns.com, I decided to make a similar LibertyColumns.com Library eBook series. As these are original columns rarely making use of material from other sources, the need to summarize linked articles is rare and, if needed, is done via simple footnotes.

Volume I of LibertyColumns.com Library, released in July 2012, contained all posts from 2009 through 2011. These were not "LibertyColumns.com posts" but rather X-Cop Fly Company posts which were copied over to LibertyColumns.com after LibertyColumns.com was created. By including them in LibertyColumns.com Library, the columns become easier to read (as per the formatting described above).

Volume II of LibertyColumns.com Library, released in September 2012, contained all posts from January through August 2012. The May 2012 column ended the copied-over X-Cop Fly Company posts, with the June through August columns originating from LibertyColumns.com.

Volume III of LibertyColumns.com Library contained all posts from September 2012 through the week of December 16, 2012. Volume III was the "Doomsday Edition" of LibertyColumns.com Library, as it covered the blog up to the week of December 21st, 2012. According to various predictions, both scientific and religious (some of which gave December 23rd), anything from a massive social or political change to all-out Armageddon was expected to happen on that date. The existence of Volume IV is proof that nothing unusual happened (excluding the ongoing destruction of America by Barack Obama, his Democratic allies, and our Occupy Wall Street Republicans in Congress - a destruction which has accelerated even more since Obama's re-election that November).

Volume IV of LibertyColumns.com Library contained all posts from December 30, 2012 through June 2013. For various reasons, including a surgery I had earlier this year, not every week had a column. However, there were plenty of columns released.

Volume V of LibertyColumns.com Library contains all posts from July 2013 through December 2013. It also includes a post from my personal journal blog, danq.co, which featured an image I submitted to Fight For The Future's "Thank You Edward Snowden" campaign on August 6, 2013. (I submitted this image to various sites, but it was not posted to LibertyColumns.com.) On July 6, 2013, I announced on the site that LibertyColumns.com columns would no longer be published on a weekly basis, hence only nine columns (and the aforementioned image) are present in this book.

This book is dedicated to the public domain according to the Creative Commons CC0 1.0 Universal Public Domain Dedication. A copy of this waiver (public domain) has been included at the end of this book. Note that this book makes frequent references to others' names and trademarks – these belong to their respective owners, who are not affiliated with this book or its author.

I hope this work proves itself enjoyable to many and will encourage further expansion of the public domain and a loosening of copyright laws and lessening of copyright terms around the world. I look forward to working on a Volume VI later this year.

Daniel R. Quintiliani (owner, LibertyColumns.com)

January 6, 2014

Why Retirees And Veterans Should Be The Whistleblowers

July 11, 2013

Over the past few years, we have seen whistleblowing showing the corruption of the US government going back to at least the days of Bush I, including proof of the Glaspie memo, where the US government deliberately baited Saddam Hussein into attacking Kuwait in order to begin the First Gulf War of 1990.

Other dirty deeds uncovered include poor decision-making with regard to attacking civilians in Iraq and Afghanistan; the reckless, criminal, and disgustingly unconstitutional behavior of the NSA; and the use of trade agreements to pressure other countries into choosing Microsoft and Monsanto products.

The faction of Americans who support imprisonment and/or death of people such as Bradley Manning, Julian Assange, and Edward Snowden are veterans and older Americans. Their emphasis on patriotism and national defense tends to lead them into supporting Washington on such matters.

These whistleblowers give an image which is sure to turn the older generations off – they tend to be younger. “Angry young men”, who tend to be apathetic, selfish, unpatriotic, lack religion and morality, and overdosed with iDistractions. Assange is in his early 40s, and Manning and Snowden are in their 20s.

What we need are people who have retired from government jobs, and those who are veterans of the military, to be the whistleblowers in our country. Older Americans need to be shown that they – the patriotic and moral – are the main victims of the Washington establishment.

The US government has done a far better job attacking freedom than it has done attacking terrorism. It doesn't matter how old you are, or what political or religious beliefs you hold – the government is watching everyone and taking names. Let's make whistleblowing look more like the patriotism it truly is.

Thank You Edward Snowden!

August 6, 2013<sup>1</sup>

Fight For The Future has created a new campaign: writing “Thank You” cards for Edward Snowden. Here is my entry:

This image is dedicated to the public domain according to the Creative Commons CC0 1.0 Universal Public Domain Dedication.

---

<sup>1</sup> This post is not from LibertyColumns.com. It can be found on my personal blog, danq.co. The image was also submitted to various sites, including to Fight For The Future's official site, where the image made the front page.

Communism Is The Cutting Edge

August 7, 2013

One of Karl Marx's key selling points of the communist ideology was that it was a progression in the history of economics – mercantilism, then capitalism, then socialism, then communism.

We have, and are, seeing Marx's prophecy come true.

During the 20th century, beginning after the 1910s, the size and scope of government grew, through taxation, regulation, legislation, and government services. A popular essay which circulates the Internet<sup>2</sup> describes how all ten planks found in Communist Manifesto are present in the United States.

In the 21st century, beginning in the 2010s, we are seeing communism itself coming into fruition – communism being the complete lack of private property. This communism is being done under the guise of convenience and cutting-edge technology. Through the popularity of subscription services and cloud computing, we are on the edge of the largest voluntary surrender of private property in human history.

As of August 7th, 2013, Amazon.com's Kindle service offers 600,000 books that cost less than $4.99 each, and over one million that cost less $9.99 each. This includes 180,000 books that are exclusive to Kindle. Public domain books are available for free, but like all Kindle books, they cannot be printed, changed, or resold for free or charge as public domain works normally are. In addition, Amazon.com can (and has<sup>3</sup>) remotely disabled any books "purchased" via Kindle – you do not own these books, you license them, and they are found in the Kindle cloud, not on your devices.

---

2 Various modified versions of this essay exist throughout the Internet, with titles like "Is America A Communist Country?" and "10 Planks of the Communist Manifesto in America". (The document I linked to here was "Communist Manifesto – All Ten Planks ... In America!!!") These essays, which circulate through email and blogs, outline the planks of the Communist Manifesto with their equivalent in the laws, regulations, and agencies of the United States, usually provided alongside the year they came into existence. For example, the eighth plank "Equal liability of all to labour. Establishment of industrial armies, especially for agriculture." (Engels translation 1888) is listed next to including the establishment of the Department of Agriculture in 1862 and the Hoover Dam's completion in 1936. The essays usually credit Encyclopedia Britannica as a bibliographic source, and some include a paragraph encouraging the reader to vote for Ron Paul (during the 2008 and 2012 Republican Party primaries).

3 "...and has" (Amazon.com's famous 2009 dispute with the Orwell estate resulted in 1984 and Animal Farm being deleted from all Kindles worldwide)

One million books at $9.99, 600,000 books at $4.99, and millions of public domain works “for free” total almost $13,000,000 of private property in the hands of Amazon, an amount which would be otherwise multiplied trillions of times in physical books. And prices through this century will no doubt rise with inflation and currency devaluation.

Services such as Netflix and iTunes take advantage of the similar “convenience” of massive voluntary surrender of private property. Instead of owning audiovisual media (much of which has since been redesigned with crippling copyright controls), no such media has been pressed, leaving the entertainment which enhances our lives and creativity in the hands of two companies.

Yes, these are private companies, not the government. However, governments from Pakistan to the United States continue to conspire with these companies to censor and alter these technologies to their best interests, as well as spy on the financial information and personal preferences of these customers. It is now far more “convenient” for the UN to seize all the world’s books from Amazon and all the world’s music from Apple than it was for FDR to seize gold bullion from millions of American individuals. And just as the perjury of Clinton led to the lies of Bush II, it is only a matter of decades before desensitization makes such actions possible. Communism is truly the cutting edge.

Barack Hussein Obama: The New Leader of Al Qaeda

September 10, 2013

(This column was written and published on September 10, 2013, and is dedicated to the victims and families of the 9/11 terrorist attacks, occurring 12 years ago from tomorrow)

On September 11, 2001, Americans watched thousands of fellow Americans murdered on domestic soil in a series of bloody terrorist attacks. The offenders, Al Qaeda, have been targeted by the US government since then, and their leader, Osama Bin Laden, was allegedly killed and disposed of in a classified funeral.

Assuming Bin Laden actually has been killed, Obama has taken Osama's place as Al Qaeda's most powerful representative. He continues to push for war in Syria, fighting alongside mass-murdering terrorist groups Al Qaeda and the Muslim Brotherhood, who Osama Obama believes are America's greatest allies.<sup>4</sup>

John McCain, whose positions on war, executive power, and surveillance are 100% in agreement with a future Biblical Antichrist, is now promoting his blasphemous beliefs that Muslim terrorist threats are equivalent to a Christian thanking God.<sup>5</sup>

This is treason. How can our own President fund, promote, and support terrorist attacks by mass murderers who killed Americans on domestic soil?

Barack Hussein Obama, John McCain, and every other politician who supports war with Syria is guilty of the deaths of all people the Obama/Al Qaeda/Muslim Brotherhood Three-Way Pact kill. And all of these deaths are equivalent to an additional American being killed on 9/11.<sup>6</sup>

---

4 Below this paragraph I embedded a video of a town hall meeting with a worried, screaming John McCain, in which he was viciously attacked by vets (one of whom was escorted out of the room) for his advocacy of war in Syria.

5 John McCain claims that "Allahu Akbar!" yelled during a terrorist attack is the same as a faithful Christian saying "Thank you, God!"

6 Below this paragraph I embedded one of several images circulating the Internet which featured various soldiers holding up protest signs over their faces, in this case a man in a navy uniform with a statement that he didn't join the navy to fight for Al Qaeda. Many of these pictures were placed on the front page of marines.com (a recruiting site by the US Marine Corps) after it was hacked and vandalized by the Syrian Electronic Army. However, the images were circulated on Twitter and elsewhere before the attack. Whether or not these images are fabrications of the Syrian government (or connected terrorist groups) is subject to debate.

Obama, who has from the beginning sided with sharia theocracies, needs to be impeached immediately. Senators must be recalled (Arizona is among the states that allow for this, with Flake and McCain both supporting war in Syria). Representatives must be challenged in primaries. Tea Party protests, Occupy Wall Street protests, and every protest in between must be omnipresent and unavoidable. Everything possible must be done to remove Al Qaeda Republicans and Muslim Brotherhood Democrats from Congress. We cannot allow for this.

Imagine what will happen in 6 years when our 12-year-old children born in 2001 earn their right to vote. What will be Al Qaeda's role in politics? Will American voters completely forget about terrorist attacks? Will minor anti-war protests be the only challenge to Al Qaeda Republicans and Muslim Brotherhood Democrats?

The treasonous foreign policy of Obama and McCain must be stopped. If it is not stopped, domestic terrorist attacks will be commonplace, and as we go further from 9/11, more Americans will be of voting age, and terrorist attacks will become mere nightly news blurbs.

A Third Tea Party: Possible, Realistic, and Easier Than You Think

September 15, 2013

During the pre-Palin days of the Tea Party Movement, the idea of a conservative third party was often discussed. Since the Tampa Purge of 2012, many have revisited this idea, most recently Judson Phillips of Tea Party Nation.

A third party dedicated only to freedom and limited government has been attempted several times, and we do have the Libertarian Party and the Constitution Party, though like the Green Party, they have been restricted to local politics, and often lack ballot access.

This period of American history is marked by a large, oppressive, and violent federal government. We have many factions within the Republican Party that are fighting each other to gain more control over the others.

The Republican Primary of 2012, possibly the most bizarre primary election in the history of the United States, featured deliberately ignored districts, intimidation and blackmail of delegates, physical assault against delegates, “secret caucuses”, fraudulently detoured transportation, obvious plants in presidential campaigns, strangely dismissed court cases, and much more horrible things we will probably never know. In addition, our elected delegates in future primaries and caucuses can now be replaced, at any time, by the Republican National Committee.

As a result, many are again questioning whether we are better off in a third party than fighting at all. Neocons want nothing to do with anyone who won’t obey them to the grave, and this includes all free-market libertarians, religious conservatives, and all similar groups that find common ground in the Tea Party Movement.

Starting a Third Tea Party is a very bad idea, and will cause freedom to dissipate and die into a medieval America built on endless wars, dumbed-down schools, illegal immigration, and socialist national health care.

However, it does not have to be a bad idea. Many state and county divisions of the Republican Party are increasingly frustrated in their fight against the neocons. By having their own “secret meetings”, it would be very easy for entire state parties to “secede” from the national Republican Party and form a Third Tea Party.

With entire states and counties gone, the Republican Party loses its presence. Neocons then have to spend the money not on weapons and wars, but on rebuilding the Republican Party – money, manpower, lobbying, propaganda, and more. For their presence has just vanished from a state with only two parties on the ballot: the Democratic Party and the Third Tea Party. If the Republican Party is not successfully re-created in that state, there will be no possible Republican vote from that state in any national election.

Unlike, say, a state Libertarian Party struggling to stay on the ballot, the Third Tea Party will already be on the ballot, and have most or all of the funding, politicians, lobbyists, votes, and resources the state Republican Party used to have.

A Third Tea Party would have no room for the neocons who attempted to destroy it. The only financially viable option for the neocons would be to bail and join the party of Big Government, that is, the Democratic Party. From then on, there would be a new two party system – the Tea Party, which would support freedom, and the Democratic Party, which does not.

It is dangerous for the Tea Party to attempt to start a new party. It would be divisive, devastating, and throw America to the wolves. It is possible, however, for liberty-minded states and their Republican Parties to “secede” from the national party. Either way, all those involved in politics must remember that America is not built on the Republican or Democratic Parties, but on the Constitution.

Obama's Blog-Burning Reich Begins

September 30, 2013

Sens. Feinstein and Schumer are planning to lead a federal blog-burning via a "media shield bill" which has just passed committee. Sen. Schumer is actually stating that the goal is to [balance freedom of the press with national security].

Currently shield laws exist at the state level as a means of protecting journalists legally per journalism's duty to report information to the general public. However, this federal non-"shield law" subjects every non-Mainstream Media 1.0 outlet to the mercy of Attorney General Eric Holder. Anything which Eric Hitler does not like can be shut down on demand.

The original language of the bill only applied to individuals who work for a company. Complaints by Matt Drudge led to an exemption in the event that primary sources are not released "without authorization". In other words, all media in America will be forced to be biased in some way, and there will be no way to prove who is right.

When we were in school writing our papers, we learned that we should always rely on primary sources rather than secondary ones. No more. Obama's nationwide "Common Core" will eliminate "the book report" and "the current events essay" as we know it, fulfilling the Marxist dream of direct management of all schools by a centralized Department of Education. This falls in line perfectly with the "memo" model of journalism most often associated with Fox News – direct management of information itself by the federal government.

Why do powerful people support control of information and suppression of information they do not like? The truth is, they do not. Censorship is not rooted in control, it is rooted in fear. Whether it be the MAFIAA's fear of an over-saturated deflationary free market in entertainment, the Surveillance State's fear of being caught in heinous criminal activity against their own citizens a la Saddam Hussein, or the neocon/liberal fear of small-government politicians and a pro-liberty press, censorship is based entirely on fear. Even the Religious Right's argument for censoring sex, violence, and the seven dirty words is based on the fear that their children will grow into immorality.

And the establishment should fear. The book-burning dictators of the 20th century did not outlast liberty, and neither will the blog-burning dictators of the 21st. All tyrannical governments ultimately destroy themselves, and liberty is again restored. Information may be suppressed, but information cannot be shut down, and will not be shut down. Tyranny is temporary. The only way is liberty.

Gun Confiscation, Sterilized Seeds & More – The Dangers of a Constitutional Convention

October 19, 2013

For many years, conservatives have been pushing for a Constitutional Convention as a means of implementing the limited government we so desperately need in America now.

Constitutional Conventions are extremely dangerous. We will witness an America under neocon national socialism and unimaginable tyranny, possibly even worse than the hybrid-communism of China.

The original American government, the Articles of Confederation, was extremely limited in nature. Most notably, there was no room for a centralized American currency system. It was for this reason that the wealthy Federalists pushed for the Constitution, which dictated to the states what they could not do (including coining their own money and signing treaties). Many states were reluctant to join our Federalist America, and it was for this reason that these states had to be bribed by adding ten amendments (out of the twelve they requested) to it. As soon as the Constitution was ratified, the national bank was one of the first items on the agenda. Literal interpretation of the document may lead to a much more limited government than the “living Constitution” of today, but the Constitution is loaded with protectionism and is one of the banking industry’s greatest scams.

200+ years later, the wealthy elites have new agendas. New ideologies have developed since the late 1700s, most notably communism and fascism. Technology has improved as well, with stronger armies and stronger weapons. While medieval/royal interests remained during the ratification of the Constitution (represented in America by Hamilton), authorities could not instantly kill Wycliffe, Luther, and Voltaire with the click of a mouse.

If a Constitutional Convention was to take place, here are some of the nightmares we will have under a neocon America:

1. No guns at all. The United Nations, through their Office for Disarmament Affairs, has long pushed for the elimination of all weapons from citizens, most recently through their “arms treaty” which Obama has signed and frequently attempts to ratify.

2. Severely weakened American military, or no American military at all. This same UN arms treaty is pushing to equalize all nations' military resources. Iran will have more military strength, and America will have less. There will also be room for foreign troops and foreign military drones. In the famous Kelo v. City of New London case, the Supreme Court declared eminent domain could be used to transfer property to private corporations – with this type of America, you can count on soldiers being indefinitely quartered in your home without a Third Amendment to stop it.
3. Extremely crippled and financially inaccessible justice system. In America now, we have situations where industry is completely legally immune from anything they do, most notably natural gas fracking. Government agencies like the EPA, USDA, and FDA allow for preservatives, pesticides, and GMO foods, and restricting or penalizing speaking out against them – this is near-pure legal immunity for Big Pharma and Big Agribusiness as well. Malpractice reform, patent reform – you name it. Leaked drafts from the secret Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) treaty negotiations, carried out by Bush II, Obama, and special interests, is being criticized for its effect on copyright laws. However, it does much more – there will be an international tribunal for all corporations, and if any government attempts to subvert this tribunal, “any” including the United States, it will be hit with trade sanctions.
4. Centralized education system. The words “education”, “school”, “student”, “learn”, and “teach” are not found anywhere in the US Constitution. After a Constitutional Convention, they will be.
5. No “hate speech”. This includes anti-federal-government speech, which has already been defined as terrorism.<sup>7</sup> Criticism of Islam, the Koran, or Muhammad will be criminalized.
6. Sterilized seeds and national seed registries. Only government-approved and sterilized seeds will be allowed in America. This is true of post-Saddam Iraq due to the neocon Paul Bremer, and no doubt will be in a post-Constitutional-Convention neocon national socialist America.

---

<sup>7</sup> "...which has already been defined as terrorism", by several state governments and federal initiatives like "Communities Against Terrorism" and "See Something, Say Something"

Are NSA Conspiracies A Conspiracy?

November 9, 2013

In recent months, we have seen the reputation of the US government, both internationally and domestically, fall to new lows. Due in part to the President Obama and the NSA, the rest of the “free world” wants nothing to do with the United States, breaking long-standing assumptions about the democratic peace theory (that is, the theory that serious conflicts and wars between democratic nations are rare).

The NSA has received some bad press regarding their activity, which is illegal, as the NSA has no jurisdiction over domestic American activity. Yet the Mainstream Media 1.0 continues to paint whistleblower Edward Snowden as a “traitor” for merely exposing illegal activity. Yahoo, one of the many major corporations who cooperated with the NSA’s Mafioso behavior, claims they were threatened by the NSA to be deemed as “traitors” as well if they did not comply. Snowden now lives in exile, protected by the lip-service “free” country of Russia.

However, the NSA’s illegal activities are not recent news. Individual PRISM-like incidents have been exposed through the 90s and 2000s, and now-proven conspiracy theories filled in the gaps.

In the mid-to-late 1990s, when mass-market Internet access was in its infancy, the NSA attempted several times to promote a “Clipper chip” and “key escrow”, where all computers in the US would have a backdoor for law enforcement. The pre-neocon, then-free-market Republicans successfully fought Clinton and the NSA. The pre-9/11 small-government Republicans also deregulated munitions laws, and many of the forms of encryption backing what we enjoy today were allowed for individual and corporate use.

Some of you may remember, back in the late 90s, when your bank told you to upgrade your browser, based on “128-bit HTTPS” replacing “56-bit HTTPS”. This was due to the Data Encryption Standard (DES), which was developed by the NSA in the 1970s. Its invulnerability was considered scientific fact until it was cracked in 1999 in less than a day.<sup>8</sup> The NSA continued to play catch-up with slightly-better security that led to a conspiracy theory – the NSA intentionally made things second-best. Thanks to Snowden,<sup>9</sup> this has been proven true.

---

<sup>8</sup> By volunteers using the distributed.net software

<sup>9</sup> A campaign by Fight For The Future urged users to submit images of signs and posters saying “Thank You Edward

Also in 1999, a group of Canadian researchers discovered that since Windows 95, a Windows security file contained the mysterious English word “NSAKEY” among its secret computer code. Microsoft claimed that the English meant that the secret code complied with NSA standards. This created “another Microsoft conspiracy theory”. Thanks to Edward Snowden, this has been proven true.

In 2002, Bush II began a program identical to PRISM called Total Information Awareness, known for its creepy “Illuminati style” logo. The program was supposedly shut down after complaints by members of Congress. Thanks to Edward Snowden, this has been proven false.

In 2005, “PRISM” as applied to the telephone companies, including AT&T and Verizon, was exposed. This made Bush II a felon, and various lawsuits against the telephone companies and the NSA were filed. Congress, including the “Impeach Bush” Democrats, granted all the guilty parties immunity, ending the lawsuits.

---

Snowden!", and "thanking" Snowden became an Internet meme. I did not post my contribution to LibertyColumns.com, but it was posted to danq.co (my personal journal blog) and is included in this book on page 10.

There are countless other examples going back as far as the 70s, above are simply the most notable ones. The NSA developed something new, and if you questioned the motives of the NSA, even when pointing out the NSA's history or the reputations and connections of the people behind these developments, you were "paranoid".

With all these examples over the past few decades, why is this only "proven fact" now? And why is the Mainstream Media 1.0 suddenly turning against the Obama administration?

Here is a new conspiracy theory for you.

In 1998, the Internet was deregulated from the Department of Defense to a trade group called the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN). This largely secretive organization consists of the world's major corporations. The ICANN distributes IP addresses (Numbers) to ISPs, Web hosts, and others. Some IP addresses have Assigned Names, which are the domain names such as LibertyColumns.com, danq.co, librabase.com, twitter.com, and teapartynation.com. Domain name owners must use private arbitration for their disputes (such as trademark infringement claims), though this is nonbinding and can be appealed through your country's court system.

The UN has long wanted their hands on the Internet. Promoting that the Internet be "for all countries" rather than "America's evil interests" will ensure that Muslims, the Chinese government, Scandinavian liberals, and others can provide for censorship and destruction of "offensive" material.

Years ago, an issue called "net neutrality" was invented. This revolved around "discrimination" of inanimate Internet activities by ISPs, notably the slowing down of equipment-draining peer-to-peer traffic such as BitTorrent, which is usually (but not always) used for copyright infringement. Unless we passed these "net neutrality" laws, Internet service would become "tiered", where only the major sites would be accessible to most customers while all other Web sites would cost more. The FCC started to implement net neutrality, though the Supreme Court declared them unable to pass these regulations without a new Congressional law. The issue seems to have faded away.

Is the Mainstream Media 1.0 suddenly attacking its hero, President Obama, digging up decades-old scandals and decades-old conspiracy theories, in order to sign away the Internet to the United Nations, getting rid of their mind-liberating, pocket-robbing, copyright-infringing menace once and for all?

Or is this just a paranoid conspiracy theory?

As with the NSA scandals, time will tell.

Abortion Mandate at the Supreme Court: How Obamacare Outlawed Catholicism

December 1, 2013

Obamacare is again at the Supreme Court. The parties in this suit are private businesses (including Hobby Lobby, Autocam, and Conestoga Wood Specialties) whose owners come from various Christian denominations which oppose abortion, artificial birth control, or both, and must now pay for these practices in their employees' health insurance copays.

The Catholic Church, the world's largest Christian denomination, has for centuries opposed both abortion and artificial birth control. Due to their large membership and financial and political influence, the Catholic Church has long been one of the most prominent figures when the sanctity of human life is in jeopardy.

Obamacare's abortion mandate is of particular concern to Catholicism. Unlike other denominations of Christianity, the abortion mandate essentially outlaws Catholicism in the United States.

How does Obamacare outlaw Catholicism, you ask? To find out, we must first look at the structure of the Catholic Church.

Contrary to popular opinion, "the Catholic Church" is not directly run by the Pope. Catholicism is an apostolic denomination, meaning that all bishops are successors of the Apostles, with the Bishop of Rome (then St. Peter) as the leader. Dioceses, monasteries, and convents run their own schools, parishes, charities, hospitals, advocacy groups, and other organizations. The Pope may issue an order or otherwise get involved in a situation, and his decision is final, but otherwise Catholic institutions are autonomous. This is similar to the "United States are" government existing between 1789 (beginning of the current Constitution) and 1868 (ratification of the 14th Amendment and the beginning of "selective incorporation")

Secondly, we must remember that in the Catholic faith, good works are a requirement, and as a result there are many viable charities, hospitals, and similar organizations run by Catholic clergy or by lay Catholics.

Finally, we must remember that Catholicism extends beyond the pews to the everyday lives of the faithful. This was emphasized and promoted by the council of Vatican II.

Thus with Obamacare, it not just clergy-run hospitals and charities, but businesses small and large which are run by individual Catholics, who must now propagate the Left's genocide of the unwanted (abortion), against their will, against their faith. Unless the abortion mandate is overturned by the Supreme Court, Catholicism will be essentially outlawed in America.

The Supreme Court has done this before, namely with Rastafarianism and several American Indian tribal religions. Marijuana, peyote, and similar drugs are held to be sacred within these religions, and ceremonies which make use of them have been criminalized in the United States. Catholics have long rejected abortion and artificial birth control, and unless the Supreme Court overturns this mandate, Catholics will be forced against their will to promote these practices and engage in them.

The Left has been very successful in promoting alternative lifestyles through the media, political correctness, smear campaigns, personal attacks, and the education system. Banking on the likelihood of contracting herpes vs. dying of HIV/AIDS, schools no longer teach about sexually transmitted diseases – these are now mere “infections” which can be simply ignored. Cultural liberals who live and support alternative lifestyles would love to make abortion as trivial as a monthly checkup, and without the Catholic Church in their way, this is ever more possible.

Another cause for concern is Pope Francis. Having backtracked on his initial opposition to the homosexual agenda, Pope Francis has made several rather disturbing comments regarding the sanctity of life and traditional family values, including ordering bishops to stay silent on abortion, calling the Religious Right “mentally sick”, and now calling for outright socialism. Both extremely-free-market capitalism and socialist forms of government were condemned at Vatican II, and being a Church council, Vatican II's condemnation of socialist government is infallible dogma. If the Supreme Court were to set the abortion mandate in stone, will Pope Francis stand up against Obamacare's genocide of the unwanted, or will he continue his shady agenda to “reach out” to non-practicing Cafeteria Catholics? How will the rest of the Catholic clergy and lay Catholic institutions react to all of this? And how will other Christians, and all Americans, be affected?

We must hope, and pray, that the Supreme Court will not destroy Catholicism in America.

The TPP and the War on Terror: End of the First Amendment

December 27, 2013

Much has been said about the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP), a disturbing trade agreement which has been negotiated in secrecy from Bush II through Obama. Civil liberties groups such as the EFF, and even Congress itself, have been fighting to get in on this, but only leaked portions of the TPP are available. Most recently Wikileaks got the portions dealing with copyright law, the Internet, and drug patents.

While these anti-technology, pro-Dark-Ages provisions are dreadfully disturbing, there is an even more frightening aspect of the TPP which most are ignoring – the arbitration system. Corporations can not only use this system to “sue” each other, but can “sue” governments themselves, including on the grounds that trade is threatened in that country in some way. Any government who uses their laws, politicians, judges, and constitutions in defiance of the arbitration system can be fined and penalized with trade sanctions.

The UN disarmament treaty, in addition to civilian gun elimination, equalizes all nations’ militaries, crippling America’s military resources and improving Iran’s. When the UN disarmament treaty coexists with the TPP, all nations become equal and weak.

America is dependent on the international flow of oil. Without oil, there is no America. OPEC nations, most of which are terrorist sharia states or otherwise have a large Muslim influence, will be able to use the TPP to destroy the First Amendment.

Terrorist attacks and assassinations frequently occur after people insult Muslims or honestly portray Muhammad and the Quran. The Muhammad cartoons in Denmark, Geert Wilders’ movie Fitna, Theo Van Gogh’s movie Submission, the attempts to show and re-air images of Muhammad in South Park, and the subsequent Everybody Draw Muhammad Day campaign on Facebook, have all resulted in threats, injuries, murders, assassinations, and terrorist attacks, all committed by Muslims who want to destroy secular democratic republics and force their governments of dismemberment, castration, beheading, and stoning, on Israel and on all the world.

The TPP makes this brutality ever more possible. When an individual, company, or religious group living under a secular democratic republic exercises their rights to freedom of religion, speech, and the press in a way that offends Muslims, there will be assassinations, bombing of oil wells and oil fields, destruction of military equipment, and more.

These resources are owned by multinational corporations, who are loyal to no flag. Resources may be crucial to another government, as Iranian oil is to Russia. Those who speak the truth about Islam and the Quran, and their government, will be taken to the TPP's tribunal. All of these people will be liable for the terrorists' destruction of the resources, and will pay severely with their wallets, freedoms, and perhaps even their lives. In other words, if you criticize Islam, you will be a terrorist.

When discussing, debating, and analyzing part or all of the TPP, we need to go deeper into the consequences of surrendering America. So long as this arbitration system is left in place, all other provisions are irrelevant. With the TPP, there is absolutely no way to know what's in it, whether we pass it or not.

Creative Commons CC0 1.0 Universal Public Domain Dedication

CREATIVE COMMONS CORPORATION IS NOT A LAW FIRM AND DOES NOT PROVIDE LEGAL SERVICES. DISTRIBUTION OF THIS DOCUMENT DOES NOT CREATE AN ATTORNEY-CLIENT RELATIONSHIP. CREATIVE COMMONS PROVIDES THIS INFORMATION ON AN "AS-IS" BASIS. CREATIVE COMMONS MAKES NO WARRANTIES REGARDING THE USE OF THIS DOCUMENT OR THE INFORMATION OR WORKS PROVIDED HEREUNDER, AND DISCLAIMS LIABILITY FOR DAMAGES RESULTING FROM THE USE OF THIS DOCUMENT OR THE INFORMATION OR WORKS PROVIDED HEREUNDER.

Statement of Purpose

The laws of most jurisdictions throughout the world automatically confer exclusive Copyright and Related Rights (defined below) upon the creator and subsequent owner(s) (each and all, an "owner") of an original work of authorship and/or a database (each, a "Work").

Certain owners wish to permanently relinquish those rights to a Work for the purpose of contributing to a commons of creative, cultural and scientific works ("Commons") that the public can reliably and without fear of later claims of infringement build upon, modify, incorporate in other works, reuse and redistribute as freely as possible in any form whatsoever and for any purposes, including without limitation commercial purposes. These owners may contribute to the Commons to promote the ideal of a free culture and the further production of creative, cultural and scientific works, or to gain reputation or greater distribution for their Work in part through the use and efforts of others.

For these and/or other purposes and motivations, and without any expectation of additional consideration or compensation, the person associating CC0 with a Work (the "Affirmer"), to the extent that he or she is an owner of Copyright and Related Rights in the Work, voluntarily elects to apply CC0 to the Work and publicly distribute the Work under its terms, with knowledge of his or her Copyright and Related Rights in the Work and the meaning and intended legal effect of CC0 on those rights.

1. Copyright and Related Rights. A Work made available under CC0 may be protected by copyright and related or neighboring rights ("Copyright and Related Rights"). Copyright and Related Rights include, but are not limited to, the following:

- i. the right to reproduce, adapt, distribute, perform, display, communicate, and translate a Work;
- ii. moral rights retained by the original author(s) and/or performer(s);
- iii. publicity and privacy rights pertaining to a person's image or likeness depicted in a Work;
- iv. rights protecting against unfair competition in regards to a Work, subject to the limitations in paragraph 4(a), below;
- v. rights protecting the extraction, dissemination, use and reuse of data in a Work;
- vi. database rights (such as those arising under Directive 96/9/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 11 March 1996 on the legal protection of databases, and under any national implementation thereof, including any amended or successor version of such directive); and

- vii. other similar, equivalent or corresponding rights throughout the world based on applicable law or treaty, and any national implementations thereof.

2. Waiver. To the greatest extent permitted by, but not in contravention of, applicable law, Affirmer hereby overtly, fully, permanently, irrevocably and unconditionally waives, abandons, and surrenders all of Affirmer's Copyright and Related Rights and associated claims and causes of action, whether now known or unknown (including existing as well as future claims and causes of action), in the Work (i) in all territories worldwide, (ii) for the maximum duration provided by applicable law or treaty (including future time extensions), (iii) in any current or future medium and for any number of copies, and (iv) for any purpose whatsoever, including without limitation commercial, advertising or promotional purposes (the "Waiver"). Affirmer makes the Waiver for the benefit of each member of the public at large and to the detriment of Affirmer's heirs and successors, fully intending that such Waiver shall not be subject to revocation, rescission, cancellation, termination, or any other legal or equitable action to disrupt the quiet enjoyment of the Work by the public as contemplated by Affirmer's express Statement of Purpose.

3. Public License Fallback. Should any part of the Waiver for any reason be judged legally invalid or ineffective under applicable law, then the Waiver shall be preserved to the maximum extent permitted taking into account Affirmer's express Statement of Purpose. In addition, to the extent the Waiver is so judged Affirmer hereby grants to each affected person a royalty-free, non transferable, non sublicensable, non exclusive, irrevocable and unconditional license to exercise Affirmer's Copyright and Related Rights in the Work (i) in all territories worldwide, (ii) for the maximum duration provided by applicable law or treaty (including future time extensions), (iii) in any current or future medium and for any number of copies, and (iv) for any purpose whatsoever, including without limitation commercial, advertising or promotional purposes (the "License"). The License shall be deemed effective as of the date CC0 was applied by Affirmer to the Work. Should any part of the License for any reason be judged legally invalid or ineffective under applicable law, such partial invalidity or ineffectiveness shall not invalidate the remainder of the License, and in such case Affirmer hereby affirms that he or she will not (i) exercise any of his or her remaining Copyright and Related Rights in the Work or (ii) assert any associated claims and causes of action with respect to the Work, in either case contrary to Affirmer's express Statement of Purpose.

4. Limitations and Disclaimers.

- a) No trademark or patent rights held by Affirmer are waived, abandoned, surrendered, licensed or otherwise affected by this document.
- b) Affirmer offers the Work as-is and makes no representations or warranties of any kind concerning the Work, express, implied, statutory or otherwise, including without limitation warranties of title, merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, non infringement, or the absence of latent or other defects, accuracy, or the present or absence of errors, whether or not discoverable, all to the greatest extent permissible under applicable law.
- c) Affirmer disclaims responsibility for clearing rights of other persons that may apply to the Work or any use thereof, including without limitation any person's Copyright and Related Rights in the Work. Further, Affirmer disclaims responsibility for obtaining any necessary consents, permissions or other rights required for any use of the Work.
- d) Affirmer understands and acknowledges that Creative Commons is not a party to this document and has no duty or obligation with respect to this CC0 or use of the Work.